Taxing U. S. Bonds

MR. EDITOR:—The power of Congress to exempt U. S. bonds from taxation by the States, having been conceded by the Supreme Court and every other branch of the Federal Government, I wish with your indulgence to show that such exemption is eminently wise and politic.

A domestic is better than a foreign loan, because the interest on it is paid to our own citizens and returns to the currency of the country in exchange for its labor and productions, while a foreign loan draws both interest and principal out of the country not to return. Our Government now pays more than one hundred millions of dollars in interest annually on its public debt. If this sum were sent abroad it would be such a drain upon the circulating medium as soon to produce a tightness in the money market and a depression, having an influence upon all branches of business, as to make the interest of each succeeding year more difficult to meet, and probably the debt itself like that of England, perpetual.

The vast resources of the United States and the energy and enterprise of a free people, rather than its scarcity, makes money bear a higher interest here than in Europe. If therefore we would have our loan taken at home, and our securities remain at home, we must give an advantage or premium to the taker or holder over a foreigner—this is done wisely and justly by exempting the bonds from local taxation. For as this exemption adds something to the foreign value of the securities, so much as it (whatever its value may be) added to the rate of interest named in the bonds, makes them more valuable at home than abroad, they will remain at home.

But let us suppose that Congress could not constitutionally exempt bonds from local taxation, or rather it had not power to bind the States to observe its promise of exemption, and any State might tax them that chose to do so, the immediate consequence would be to prevent the citizens of that State from investing their money in Government securities, and if all the States taxed the bonds they would naturally find their best market in a foreign country.

By way of illustration let us suppose the local tax to amount to two per cent., and the bonds to draw six per cent. and Congress designed to exempt the bonds from taxation—in which case the citizen holder would in effect receive eight per cent. and the foreign holder six per cent., but if a State or all the States taxed the bonds, then the citizen would in effect receive but four per cent. while the foreigner received six.

And if a State has the power to tax the Government securities at all it can do so at discretion, and if hostile to the Federal Government completely defeat or nullify its power to borrow money within its limits.

But again, Congress having promised the bond holder exemption from taxation must make good that promise or be guilty of repudiating its contract. Would any loyal State by its act, force upon the Federal Government this dilemma, if it could do so? or would any loyal man advise the doing of it?

He that would repudiate a portion of the public debt would repudiate the whole of it if he could.

The traitors of this State say in their platform that "the charge that they would repudiate the public debt is slanderous and false," yet their candidate for State printer has declared in his paper that his party if in power would pay the public debt in thirty days without taxation!" Their would be Governor has bound himself by a profane oath that "he will never vote a dollar in payment of the public debt, unless the bonds are made taxable for State purposes," and the "Fay" (or more properly "Imp" for his spirit is evil) who most fitly heads the ticket of such a party, labored earnestly in the late extra session of the Legislature to obtain the passage of a law to tax U. S. bonds (though well knowing such a law would be in violation of the Constitution he had sworn to support. He also took occasion to taunt the Legislature with passing the Specific Contract law which he falsely claimed to be a measure of the same character, not seeming to care that as he had advocated and voted for the measure, and did at the extra session vote both for and against its repeal, that he thereby proved at least how lightly the obligations of an oath sat upon his conscience and how ready he was to commit the crime of perjury, if thereby he could cripple the resources or even impair the credit of a Government he had conspired to destroy. So true it is that he who is resolved on the commission of a great crime, hesitates not to commit any other crime, if necessary to the accomplishment of his infernal purpose.

That the public debt has grown out of pure patriotism as pure and motives as righteous as moved the hearts of those who shed their blood in the same holy cause I think is evident from the fact that almost any business in this country pays a larger profit on investments than six per cent. U. S. bonds, and consequently bonds of that kind are not desirable investments except to men retired from business, to widows, minors, and perhaps the accumulations of business men beyond their active capital. And even for these purposes the demand is so limited here, that under the administration of Mr. Pierce, when the nation was prosperous and in peace with the world, a loan of only ten millions could not be negotiated in the United States. But when the nation was involved in a war for its existence, when its dismemberment or destruction was imminent, and a foreign loan could not have been obtained perhaps on any terms, THOUSANDS OF MILLIONS flowed into its treasury from the purses of its patriotic people, much of it free gifts—it came from the rich and it came from the poor, every town and village and city throughout the loyal States contributed according to their means, but of all this vast treasure not one dollar was contributed by the party who now ask the people to trust them with power. But the national debt being the growth of patriotism it is but natural for those who sought the life of the nation to seek its repudiation. A

Historical Sketches of Oregon

In the Astorian [illegible] of April 30th, which is publishing early sketches of Oregon history, we find the following, which is of general interest:

WHITMAN'S VISIT TO WASHINGTON.

In September, 184[illegible], Dr. Whitman was called to visit a [illegible] at [illegible] Walla Walla. While there a [illegible] of [illegible] the Hudson Bay Company's [illegible] on their way [illegible]. While at dinner the [illegible] the emigration for the Red River settlement had [illegible] Colville. This news excited unusual joy among [illegible]. One of them sang out, "Hurrah for Oregon! America is too late; we have got the country."

Whitman learned that the Hudson Bay Company had arranged for these Red River English settlers coming on [illegible] Oregon, and at the same time [illegible] Simpson was to go to Washington and secure the settlement of [illegible] the country.

The Doctor was [illegible] with [illegible] could reach Washington [illegible]. [illegible] "I have [illegible] to Washington this [illegible]. But [illegible] was the [illegible]. I will see [illegible] the road [illegible] sufficiently acquainted with [illegible] bringing the first wagon [illegible] to Fort Boise [illegible]. [illegible] after this [illegible] at his station Wailatpu [illegible] save the country from the British territory.

The [illegible] Dr. Whitman's [illegible] I find an article in [illegible] from Mr. Spaulding, which gives [illegible] result.

[illegible]

On [illegible] the settlers [illegible] Dr. Whitman found [illegible] road and [illegible] children of those [illegible] families had been saved from a terrible death only by the repeated and timely [illegible] of Mr. Grant of Fort Hall in furnishing them with horses. The Doctor told these men as he met them that his only object in crossing the mountains in the dead of winter, at the risk of his life [illegible] through until [illegible] was to take back an emigration that summer through the mountains to the Columbia with their wagons and their teams. The route was practicable. [illegible] taken our wagons, our cattle and our families through seven years before. They had a thing to fear. But [illegible] be ready on his return. The stopping of wagons at Fort Hall was a Hudson's Bay Company scheme to prevent the settling of the country by the Americans till they could settle it with their own subjects from Selkirk. This news spread like fire through Missouri. The Doctor pushed on to Washington and immediately sought an interview with Secretary Webster and stated to him the object of his crossing the mountains and laid before him the great importance of Oregon to the United States. But Mr. Webster lived too near Cape Cod to see things in the same light with his fellow statesman, who had transferred his worldly interests to the Pacific coast. He awarded sincerity to the missionary, but could not admit for a moment that the short residence of six years could give the Doctor the knowledge of the country possessed by Gov. Simpson, who had almost grown up in the country and had traveled every part of it, and represents it as one unbroken waste of sand deserts and impassable mountains, fit only for the beaver, the gray bear and the savage. Besides he had about traded it off with Governor Simpson to go into the Ashburton Treaty for a cod fishery on New Foundland.

The Doctor next sought an interview with President Tyler, who at once appreciated his solicitude and listened to his representations of Oregon and especially his disinterested though hazardous undertaking to cross the Rocky Mountains in the winter to take back a caravan of wagons. He said that, although the Doctor's representations of the character of the country, and the possibility of reaching it by a wagon route, were in direct contradiction to those of Gov. Simpson, his frozen limbs were sufficient proof of his sincerity, and his missionary character was sufficient guarantee for his honesty, and he would, therefore, as President, rest upon these and act accordingly; would detail Fremont with a military force to [illegible] the Doctor's caravan through the mountains, and no more action should be had towards trading off Oregon till he could hear the result of the expedition. If the Doctor could establish a wagon route through the mountains to the Columbia river, pronounced impossible by Gov. Simpson and Ashburton, he would use his influence to hold on to Oregon. The great desire of the Doctor, the pledge of the President that the swapping of Oregon with England for a codfishery should stop for the present, was attained, although at the risk of life, and through great sufferings, and unaided and without the promise or expectation of a dollar's reward from any source. And now, God giving him life and strength, he would do the rest; that is connect the Missouri and Columbia rivers with a wagon track so deep and plain that neither national envy or sectional fanaticism would ever blot out. And when the 6th of September, 1843, saw the rear of the Doctor's caravan of nearly two hundred wagons with which he started from the Missouri about the last of April, emerge from the western shades of the Blue Mountains upon the plains of the Columbia, the greatest work ever accomplished by one man for Oregon on this coast was finished. And through that great emigration during that whole summer, the Doctor was their everywhere present angel of mercy, ministering to the sick, helping the weary, encouraging the wavering, cheering the mothers, mending wagons, setting broken bones, hunting stray oxen, climbing precipices; now in the rear, now in front; in the rivers looking out fords through the quicksands; in the deserts looking out for water; in the dark mountains looking out passes; at noontide or midnight, as though these thousands were his own children, and those wagons and those flocks were his own property. Although he asked not and expected not a dollar as a reward from any source, he felt himself abundantly rewarded when he saw the desire of his heart accomplished, the great wagon route over the mountains established and Oregon in a fair way to be occupied with American settlements and American commerce. And especially he felt himself doubly paid, when, at the end of his successful expedition, and standing again at his home, again on the banks of the Walla Walla, those thousands of his fellow summer pilgrims, wayworn and sunbrowned, took him by the hand and thanked him with tears for what he had done.

During the Doctor's absence, his flouring mill, with a quantity of grain, had been burned, and consequently he found but a small supply at his station on his return, raised by Mr. Geiger, a young man. But what he had in the way of grain, garden vegetables and cattle he gladly furnished the needy emigrants at the very low figures of the Willamette prices, which was six hundred per cent. lower than what they had been compelled to pay at Forts Hall and Boise, and one half lower than they are to-day in the same country. And this was his practice every year till himself and wife and fourteen emigrants were murdered in the fall of 1847.

Often the good doctor would let every bushel of his grain go to the passing emigrants in the fall, and then he would have to depend upon others for the winter and the whole winter till next harvest, for his own large family; and the number of emigrants who every year were obliged to stop at his station on account of sickness or give out [illegible]. Although the Doctor had done so much for his country, it [illegible] his blood [illegible] Government to take formal possession of this coast; as it was his death by savages that sent the devoted J. L. Meek over the mountains in 1848, to beg the Government, in behalf of the citizens of this coast, to send us help, and to extend its jurisdiction over us. The prayer was answered by act of Congress, approved Aug. 14th, 1848.

The Indirect Method.

It is a saying of President Johnson and his little coterie of friends in Congress that the Executive desires to reach the very results aimed at by the Congressional majority, but that he wishes to reach them by the surer method of gradual and circuitous approach. He is firmly resolved to protect the freedmen in the enjoyment of civil rights but is inflexibly opposed to a law whose design is to secure these ends. He is inexorable in his determination to punish rebels, but defers the business from year to year, evidently thinking it can be done more satisfactorily in the next generation than now. He wants profound peace to be re-established over the whole country, but is averse to exercising the authority of the Government to re-establish it. In fact he desires to bring about all that Congress contends for, but would use no agencies to accomplish these results. He would do everything by indirect methods, rejecting the shortest, simplest and most convenient way of reaching the objects to be arrived at.

The pleasant chronicle of the life and adventures of Peregrine Pickle relates an incident in the career of the hero's uncle, old Commodore Trunnion, which runs in this wise: The Commodore had become convinced by the appearance of heavenly prodigies that it was his duty to take a wife. On the day appointed for his espousals, he set out across the fields for the church, attended by a great troop on horseback. Instead of riding directly for the place of their destination, the Commodore and his company crossed the field obliquely, and, when stopped by the hedge from proceeding farther in that direction, stood over to the other side, making an obtuse angle with the line of their former course. A messenger had been dispatched to hasten their coming, telling the Commodore that the party was very uneasy at his delay. To this the son of Neptune replied: "Hark ye, don't you see we make all possible speed? Go back and tell those who sent you that the wind has shifted since we weighed anchor, and that we are obliged to make very short trips in tacking; and that as we lie within six points of the wind, they must make some allowance for variations and leeway." "Lord, sir," said the valet, "what occasion have you to go zig zag in that manner? Do but clap spurs to your horses and ride straight forward, and you shall be at the church in a quarter of an hour." "What, right in the wind's eye!" answered the commander, "ahey, where did you learn your navigation? Hawser Trunnion is not to be taught at this time of day how to lie his course or keep his own reckoning!"

If President Johnson really desires to settle the country on a true basis of peace—if he is so anxious to secure all men in the enjoyment of their natural and civil rights as he professes to be—if he desires justice to be established, the laws to be executed and loyal men to possess and hold the government of the Southern States—if he aims at all these things and expects to reach them by the course he is pursuing, he may find an illustration of his mode of procedure in the adventures of the old Commodore.

The Conspiracy Party.

While the plans of the secessionists were being matured—while democrats in the first offices of the Government were furnishing to the incipient rebellion the material "aid and comfort" of arms, munitions of war, arsenals and vessels belonging to the United States, the leading democrats of the North were pledging themselves to resist the United States Government in any efforts it might make to coerce the seceding States, and, if necessary, to inaugurate counter-revolutions in the North. This is not bare assertion, but the charge is sustained by the concurrent admissions and testimony of both Northern and Southern rebels. It is sustained by the conduct of the northern copperheads all through the war, by the expectations, conduct and declarations of the rebels when driven to the straits of desperation. In the correspondence between leading rebels South and leading copperheads North, the former appealed to the latter for help, in more instances than one, declaring that the power of rebel arms could no longer be relied upon, and that the only remaining hope of the Southern Confederacy rested upon the chance of the copperhead party in the North, succeeding in the Presidential election of 1864. This is history.

That the copperheads contemplated counter-revolutions in the North, is evidenced by the developments made of the proceedings of the dark-lantern societies all over the North, by the riots in New York, the conspiracy in Indiana, the murdering raids from Canada, the assassination of the President and by the intercepted correspondence between leading democrats and rebels.

A letter written by C. C. Clay from his place of refuge in Canada, and lately brought to light, contains the following paragraph:

> All that a large portion of the Northern people, especially in the northwest, want, to resist the despotism at Washington is a leader. They are ripe for resistance and it may come soon after the Presidential election; at all events, it must come if our armies are not overcome and destroyed or dispersed. No people of Anglo-Saxon blood can long endure the usurpations and tyrannies of Lincoln. The Democrats are more hated by modern Republicans than Southern rebels and will be outraged and persecuted. If Lincoln is re-elected they must accede to a disgraceful despotism or fight. They feel it and know it.

This letter was written in 1864. In it Clay states precisely what everybody then felt to be true, in relation to the readiness of the Northern democratic malcontents to break out in armed resistance to the Government. How did he know of the existence of that state of things? To which it may be answered that Vallandigham and quite a number of other leading democrats were then in Canada, and in free communication with C. C. Clay and his fellow emissaries from the rebel Confederacy. And more than this, all were in constant communication with leading democrats in the Northern States. Clay's knowledge of matters in the North and North west was drawn from such sources. That he was correctly informed there can be little doubt. That the riot in New York was intended as the initiatory step to a counter-revolution is very probable. That the Indiana conspiracy was intended as another start is the only rational conclusion which can be drawn from the facts. That the assassination of President Lincoln was a part of the plan for open, armed resistance to the Government mentioned by C. C. Clay, has long since become the settled conviction of the Northern people. To each of these attempts the [illegible]

[illegible]

The attitude of the Democracy was, throughout the war, one of hostility to the Government, manifesting itself through the public press, the speeches of its partisans, the machinations of its secret, oath bound organizations, its armed conspiracies, its invitations to raiding bands from beyond the Ohio and the St. Lawrence, and the culminating crime of the President's cold blooded murder. And this is the party which now unblushingly demands to be put in charge of the United States Government!

KENTUCKY [illegible].—A person who signs his name J. R. Duncan, late Surgeon U. S. Vols.—we don't question his right to this title as we don't know him—gives way to his Democratic propensity to call us through the Herald a great many bitter names because we said a few days ago that "Kentucky had made far heavier sacrifices to break up the Union than she did to save the country." We ask J. R. Duncan, late Surgeon, etc., to look a little at the figures before he, in giving way to his petulant resentment. The Secretary of War shows that Kentucky furnished 75,340 men for the National armies. Of these, a large part were negroes. Indiana, with an aggregate population but a little greater than that of Kentucky, furnished 193,137 men for the Government. So much for the comparison between Kentucky and a loyal State. Now while it never can be known precisely how many men Kentucky gave to support the rebellion it is certain that President Lincoln's call for troops was answered by her sending several rebel regiments to the Confederate service, and none to aid the Government of the Union. It is known furthermore, that the rebels often boasted of having 100,000 Kentuckians in their armies. Kentucky might have sent a greater number than this, and then have had no more men engaged in the war (counting all on both sides) than Indiana sent to fight for the Union. There were many loyal Kentuckians from the commencement of the struggle. These men deserve all honor. But there were so many disloyalists that nothing but the presence of troops from the free States saved Kentucky to the Union. All these things are facts, notwithstanding the indignation of "J. R. Duncan, late Surgeon," etc.

A SHALLOW SUBTERFUGE.—We understand that both Col. Kelly and Fay say in their speeches that the Civil Rights law confers citizenship upon every Chinaman in the United States. If they have read the law, they know that it does not confer citizenship upon a single negro or Chinaman not born in the United States. The status of all persons not born in the United States remains unchanged by the Civil Rights law. We quote the section which designates the class of persons made citizens:

> SECTION 1. That all persons born in the United States and not subject to any foreign power, excluding Indians not taxed, are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States, and such citizens, of every race and color, without regard to any previous condition of slavery or involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall have the same right in every State and Territory to make and enforce contracts, to sue, to be sued, be parties and give evidence, to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold and convey real and personal property, and to have full and equal benefit of all laws and the security of person and property as are enjoyed by white citizens, and shall be subject to like punishment, pains and penalties and to none other, any law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

There is nothing in the act beyond this, declaring what classes shall or shall not be entitled to the rights of citizenship. Do Kelly and Fay take the people of Oregon for fools that they so confidently state a proposition which every man finds to be false, before getting through the first three lines of the Civil Rights law? But without such subterfuges, the Democratic candidates would be without an argument.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY.—We learn that the Examination and the Commencement exercises of Pacific University at Forest Grove, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, passed off creditably to both instructors and students in all departments. The exercises in the recitation room indicated close and continuous study, and those on the stage evinced manly thought and address. The Institution is beginning to realize some of the long cherished aims of its founders and patrons. Thirty three students are enrolled in the college and preparatory classes. Three young gentlemen, George H. Durham, Myron Eells and Edward B. Watson, having completed the course, received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The degree of Master of Arts was conferred on H. W. Scott. The classes now bid fair to succeed each other regularly. President Marsh goes East on the next steamer to obtain more funds, teachers and apparatus. Meanwhile Prof. Lyman will act as President, and with Prof. Harpending and other teachers, will aim to keep up the full measure of study and progress of the past year.

The Alumni Association, which invites graduates of all Colleges, is increasing in members, already embracing gentlemen from ten institutions of learning.

STARTLING.—A few days ago, we alluded to a remark in the Herald as a "prediction" of trouble soon to come. That paper indignantly denied that it meant to predict trouble. What is meant by the following from the Herald of Friday?

> Unless these men be restrained and discouraged by a popular demonstration from Constitutional Union men, the people of this coast will be startled by the news of executive interference in a manner more effective than the warfare of paper bullets or Presidential vetoes.

Is this a prediction? Or is it a threat? What do you mean by "startled?" What by "more effective than the warfare of paper bullets?" What is to be done on this coast to startle the people? Are there any piratical Chapmans about, to pounce down upon this coast and gobble up the country into the bosom of a Northern Confederacy or a Pacific Republic? Is the "resistance to tyranny" spoken of by C. C. Clay's intercepted letter still smouldering and about ready to burst forth to startle us? Have you found the "leader" which C. C. Clay said was all you wanted to break out into resistance? Come now, speak out—don't keep "this coast" in suspense.

A COUPLE OF QUOTATIONS.—The Oregon Sentinel, published at O'Fay's home in Southern Oregon, gives the following as the language of James D. Fay, Democratic candidate for Congress:

> I pronounce this war an unholy crusade against THE NATURAL RIGHT OF SECESSION—carried on by murderers and thieves for rapine and plunder.

That is Fay's opinion of the loyal soldiers and the loyal people who furnished the bone and sinew of the Government during the terrible struggle for National existence. How would loyal Oregon like to be represented in Congress by the man who publicly expresses such sentiments?

Here is another quotation which the people should remember:

> I believe in the right of secession as a DIVINE RIGHT and demand that the South be allowed to go in peace.

Keep these declarations in memory.

"What power has your President?" asks Mr. Johnson, in one of his late harangues. "What can he do? What can he originate?" The next moment after thus boasting of impotence, he threatens a display of power: "I thank God I am your President and I intend to assert the power which the people have placed in my hands." The powerless potentate then proceeds to give an illustration of his "power" in the field of black guardism, by designating as "curs, hounds and "whelps," all who differ with him. When he talks about "asserting power" he probably means his power to surpass in low scurrility every man of the time.

> What party is in favor of repudiation?—Herald

We shall endeavor to enlighten you a little on this point. Three or four years ago the editor of the Herald wrote:

> The vast national debts created by all parties will ultimately be repudiated.

Are you answered?

WASHINGTON, May 1.—It is understood that in a cabinet meeting to-day, the President invited an expression of opinion from his constitutional advisers respecting the plan reported to Congress by the reconstruction committee. The appearance of this munition of war [illegible] It was neither a Rodman, Parrot or Dahlgren. It was neither smooth bore [illegible] muzzled [illegible] double back action breech [illegible] and the smallest calibre [illegible] The history of this [illegible] gun is worthy of record. It was used in 18[illegible] the walls of [illegible] in repelling the [illegible] of the devil, but on account of its small calibre, was dismounted and disposed of to one Franklin Pierce and transported to Puget Sound, in the vicinity of Whidby's Island, and for a season, was used against the natives for violating the aforesaid Franklin's laws. After a thorough test it was again found defective; was condemned and sold to the highest bidder. A few enterprising copper bottom members of the Jones family were the purchasers and caused it to be removed to this county. The investment was not made on account of its actual worth or its fitness for any service, but simply on account of its value as a memento of the antediluvian ages and the rare mechanism displayed in its construction and to have it on hand to compare with the more modern inventions in use at the present day. I have heard it rumored that a proposition was made by an association of gentlemen (?) which was organized in your city on the — day of April, to purchase for their own private use, this antiquated piece, and considerable anxiety was manifested by its owners to dispose of it, but after an inspection it was positively declined by the association at any price. It is now in the charge of a committee consisting of three distinguished members of the fraternity: one a leather dealer, another a sash and door manufacturer and the third and last with no visible avocation whatever—a mere appendage of the family.

Truly yours, an un-adulterated "cuss," un-mixed and "available," though not a member of the Jones family.

FORREST.

SELF PROTECTION.—We find the following letter in relation to the plans adopted by the people at Canyon City to rid themselves of Indian pests, in the Mountaineer of the 3d instant:

CANYON CITY, April 25th, 1866.

O. S. MILLER, Esq.:—At a meeting of the "Grant County Mutual Protection Association," held at the Court House in Canyon City, on Sunday evening, April 22d 1866, it was ordered that the Secretary forward you a copy of the Constitution and By Laws of said society, that it might be used by you in soliciting subscriptions of the citizens of the Dalles, for the benefit of said society.

The object of said society is to rid the community of the savages who now infest our borders, and threaten to cut off communication with the Dalles. It is proposed by said society to raise sufficient means to effectually accomplish this object, and it is necessary to offer such inducements to parties who would engage in the traffic, as to insure success. We have been troubled with Indians since this place came into existence, but it seems to be of a more serious character now than heretofore. From the lethargy of our people heretofore, they (the Indians) are led to believe that they can accomplish anything however bold and daring its nature. They have passed within two and a half miles of our city, and we are fearful that something of a more serious nature than the mere stealing of stock will be the result if they are not arrested.

We propose to raise means enough so as to offer $100 for scalps, and in order to do this, we ask you to co-operate with us.

Farmers and others here who are able, are giving from $25 to $200. By this means we will be able to raise some $2,000, and if your place will do as well, I think we may be able to accomplish some good. As you must admit, this is the most feasible plan that can be adopted, to accomplish the end sought.

Messrs. Halloran and French of the firm of French & Gilman, are on the committee with you. You can confer with them and see what can be done.

Yours, A. H. MOREHEAD.

> The questions now are not those of secession, or slavery, or the right of a people to revolution, or of the Federal Government to coerce.—Herald.

No; but when these were the questions, the person who now edits the Herald published and endorsed the following resolution of the Pike County (Ill.) Democratic Convention:

> Resolved, That we are opposed to the Federal Government adopting any coercive measures toward the seceding States.

Should the advice of a person who said that the resolutions of which the above is one, "EMBRACED HIS VIEWS COMPLETELY," be considered sound on questions that are to be settled now?

The sapient editor of the Herald loads a weary column with an "argument" to prove that it would be unconstitutional to adopt the constitutional amendment proposed by the Reconstruction Committee! This is of a piece with his profound argument on "negro equality." On what subject will the multiscious editor next give us a learned essay?

THE REMARKABLE PROPERTIES OF BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES have been thoroughly tested since first introduced. The demand for them has steadily increased, and purely upon their own merits, they have found favor with those who, from Pulmonary, Bronchial or Asthmatic complaints require them. For Coughs and Colds they are efficacious.

"Rally Round the Flag, Boys! Rally Once Again!"

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California—a selection of the best articles appearing in the DAILY OREGONIAN—full and reliable news from the [illegible], and the most copious commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is double that published by any other journal [illegible], and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable [illegible], especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests.

Single copies 12½ cents or $3 00 per year to any part of the United States, or British Columbia.

POSTAL AFFAIRS.—The Walla Walla Statesman says an [illegible] has been effected by Quincy A Brooks, Esq., Special Agent of the Postoffice Department, by which the mail between Walla Walla and the Dalles will [illegible] be carried from five to six times per week, or as often as the steamers ply up and down the Columbia river, instead of tri weekly as heretofore. The inauguration of the new system makes a new era in the postal affairs of the country east of the Cascade mountains. The importance of the new arrangement will be readily appreciated by every reflecting mind. The contract for carrying a tri weekly mail from Salt Lake City to the Dalles was awarded to Ben Holliday for the sum of $[illegible],000 per annum. From Walla Walla to the Dalles the mail is carried by sub-contractors, viz from Walla Walla to Wallula by the stage company of Geo F Thomas & Co, and then to Dalles by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company. The increased service which has been secured by the good management of Special Agent Brooks, to be performed without any extra expense, [illegible] would actually cost (according to the rate paid by the Government to Holliday) from $25,000 to $30,000 per annum. And this extra service being up in the most important end of the route, we are [illegible] important and necessary. It is that the postal affairs of this coast should be entrusted to a Special Agent possessing some tact and energy, for in this one simple transaction Mr. Brooks has performed a service which is worth more to the Government and this people than the pay of half a dozen Special Agents. We learn that Mr. Brooks has also [illegible] the establishment of a Postoffice at Wallula [illegible] the Touchet, and he desires the people in that [illegible] to hold a meeting and designate some suitable [illegible] to fill the position of Postmaster. When this is [illegible] the name of the party thus selected be forwarded to him, at this city, and he will take all necessary steps for the establishment of the office. Quite a little town is springing up around Wait's Mill, the people of which will be greatly benefited by having postal facilities extended to them. Mr. B. has further recommended the appointment of a Postmaster at Wallula—a most excellent movement.

"STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL."—Semi-occasionally circulars are received here by various parties through the mail from a firm dealing in lottery tickets, and who claim to do business in New York city, requesting the recipient of the circular to purchase a package of lottery tickets, as they desire to give a good prize in this [illegible] [illegible], telling him—confidentially of course—that he will be [illegible], on receipt of the prize, to mention the fact to his friends and acquaintances that he has drawn a prize through their agency. The circular generally [illegible] the shrewd observation that if the person [illegible] has "any scruples against making money" in that way, he is not the person they wish to do business with. Whether any of our citizens get deluded into investing in lottery tickets through any such circular, we do not know, as their transactions are strictly confidential, but we hope for their intelligence that they are too shrewd to be fooled by such a shallow artifice.

THE COMING FRUIT CROP.—The San Francisco Alta of this date has the following, which we recommend to the special attention of our citizens interested: "The question seems to be, what will be done with the great quantity of fruit that will be raised this season? If it is to be sent to this market in a green state, as formerly, it will be a curse rather than a benefit, paying no one but the owners of steamers and vessels and cartmen. [illegible] advice to the producer is, to make your arrangements in time to dry your fruit. Dried fruit will always [illegible], we have such a vast country continually opening [illegible], that the demand will always be good. [illegible] fall, all the peaches that were dried were sold [illegible], and now it would take at least twenty [illegible] to fill orders now here, and none are to be had. As soon as the price of [illegible], pears, [illegible], apricots, and [illegible] commence drying, and by the time your [illegible] is dried it will be wanted for shipping."

[illegible] OLD LAND MARKS.—The old frame building [illegible] Alder and Front streets are being removed [illegible] large three story brick store, 50 by [illegible] Messrs. T. J. & C. M Carter. The [illegible] Morrison and Second street, formerly [illegible] wagon shop, and later as Shattuck's [illegible], was razed to the ground yesterday, and [illegible] & Co. will soon have up in its place [illegible] factory.

[illegible].—The celebrated tragedian, Edwin [illegible] was announced yesterday, arrived at San [illegible] the [illegible] on Thursday. [illegible] Lappeus [illegible] have been telegraphed to from San Francisco, [illegible] who wished to obtain Oro Fino Hall for a [illegible] with Edwin Forrest, and the answer [illegible] satisfactory, the probabilities are that our [illegible] soon have an opportunity of witnessing the [illegible] of the age.

[illegible].—A private letter states that the richest [illegible] yet discovered in Montana were struck [illegible] weeks since, one hundred miles west of Helena. [illegible] are being constantly made, but this is [illegible] as being the richest yet found. Water was [illegible] no idle men were seen in the country, [illegible] for those now on the way, who will be [illegible] as a general thing, when they arrive at the [illegible].

[illegible] INVENTION.—All who have suffered the annoyance [illegible] search for blotting paper among the loose stationery [illegible] to accumulate upon a desk, will welcome [illegible] invention known as Moore's Blotter. It is a [illegible] affair, mahogany mounted, and so constructed that the paper, as fast as it becomes soiled or [illegible], may be changed, with little or no trouble.

[illegible] WE TRUST.—Messrs. Goldsmith Bros have [illegible] of the newly coined $20 pieces, from the San [illegible] mint, with the above inscription upon [illegible]. There is something more than an ordinary pleasure in looking at one of them.

[illegible] GLOBE.—Mr. Philip Schade has become sole proprietor of the Globe Hotel, corner of Front and C streets. The Globe is in a good locality, and is a new house. See [illegible].

[illegible] NEW YORK BAKERY.—The steam bakery of our [illegible] P C. Hornung & Co., just now offers inducements [illegible] trade worth looking after. See advertisement and give them a call.

[illegible] SALE.—The sale to-day by Mr. A. B. Richardson will comprise a large assortment of groceries, etc [illegible] to the other articles advertised.

[illegible] C. M. Carter, Esq, advertises something of [illegible] of persons having business before the departments at Washington City.

[illegible] at the telegraph office for G W McNear

[illegible] THEATRE.—We notice that the "Diamond [illegible] Troupe," late of New York city, will give their [illegible] entertainment this evening at the Theatre, on which [illegible] fine bill will be presented. The performers [illegible] the minstrels in business, and includes Johnny [illegible], the world renowned Jig Dancer, who will dance [illegible] Mason for $250 a side. The programme [illegible] many laughable acts, and as the performance [illegible] particular be select, we hope the ladies and [illegible] of Portland will greet them with a full house, [illegible] the troupe that we like pure enjoyment.

State Items.

[illegible] is complaining of very warm weather. On Monday and Tuesday, the thermometer went up to ninety degrees. The weather [illegible] within sixty or seventy degrees of that, [illegible] since cooled down.

[illegible] Kuhler has been appointed a Notary Public for Jackson county.

The O. S. N. Co. advertise a reduction on the [illegible] freighting flour from Dalles to points up the Columbia and Snake rivers. A very sensible [illegible] to do.

Hon. David Logan was announced to speak on [illegible] matters at the Dalles, last evening.

The prospect of cholera this summer is having [illegible] effect upon most of our towns. The [illegible] officers are having the rubbish and filthy debris cleared out of streets, alleys, cellars &c, adding very much to the improved appearance of things as well as to a better sanitary condition. In Portland, for a few days, men have been employed in scraping debris into heaps preparatory to being hauled away—the hillocks looking very much as though the city were going extensively into the sweet potato business.

The Union Convention of Wasco county meets to-day to nominate candidates for county offices.

A considerable portion of the town of Canyon City has been washed away or seriously damaged by the late high water. The miners' claims along the creek have been filled up. What with high water, Indians, and all the troops on the Chino route, our people at Canyon City are having a rough time.

Rev. B. C. Lippincott is collecting sermons of the dead preachers on the Pacific coast with a view to publishing them in a volume.

A meeting was lately held at Virginia City, Montana, to take measures for the effective organization of the Union party in that Territory. The meeting was largely attended from the several counties. A Territorial Central Committee was appointed and patriotic resolutions adopted. The Montana Post, the best paper in the Territory, sustains the party.

Thad. Stevens says he shall vote for the admission of the Tennessee delegation, otherwise the country might think that the happy relations between him and the President had been disturbed.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere, and HODGE & CALEF, 97, Front St.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

M. HOWARD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE,
315 Montgomery St., San Francisco.

THE ABOVE PREPARATION, WHICH HAS BEEN recently discovered and patented, is purely a Vegetable Extract.

The undersigned are fully aware of the many unsatisfactory and useless preparations for restoring hair that have been introduced to the public, and how little confidence is to be placed in any pretensions to restoring the hair to bald heads, but having tried MR. HOWARD'S PREPARATION, we are able to state that it not only prevents the hair from falling out, but absolutely reproduces it, and that we now have good suits of hair growing where we were entirely bald. Therefore as a matter of justice to Mr. Howard, and of consolation to bald heads, we tender him this testimonial. Mr. H. keeps the article for sale in bottles with directions for its use, or applies it himself, as may be desired.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day,
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That feverish taint the heavy air.
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent:
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysentric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhœa that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For which, though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is STEAM POWER, NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, May 4th, 1866.

The frightful calamities resulting from explosions of nitro-glycerine still continue to be a considerable comment. That the preparation should not be transported by land or sea, on any public conveyance is decided and certain [illegible] explosions, and who shipped at her [illegible] necessary to transport it is way [illegible]. If the ingredients cannot be shipped separately, and then mixed at the point where it is to be employed, it must be [illegible] altogether. To place nitro-glycerine in wooden boxes on board steamer rail car or stage coach, with the fearful results of the past few weeks before us, is to commit the most atrocious crime of which man is capable. Under such circumstances the only course which can be pursued is that suggested by the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco. Congress is the only body that can grapple with the subject. It has, under the Constitution, "the power to regulate commerce." It is beyond question that unless the most stringent penalties are prescribed, nitroglycerine will continue to be shipped under one guise or another. Resolutions asking the immediate passage of a law making it felony to ship the compound, have been telegraphed to Washington, and it is to be hoped that speedy action will be taken upon them. It is impossible to even approximate an idea of the tremendous power of this preparation. Persons handling packages need not be recommended to exercise great caution in looking for the unmanageable explosive agent. The Sacramento Union, of late date, says three boxes arrived in that city from San Francisco, and remained ten hours on the wharf without anybody being aware of its extreme dangerous character. The boxes were eighteen inches long and about twelve inches square. The packages were consigned to the Pacific Railroad Company, and were shipped at San Francisco as ordinary freight, without any word of caution being given to the officers of the boat. We are informed that instances occasionally occur in which parties, for the purpose of saving a slight additional cost, ship powder in dry goods boxes, or barrels, as ordinary merchandise. By such action the lives of citizens are frequently endangered. The laws regulating the transportation of powder and other combustible material should be rigidly enforced, and so far as the responsibility for the late accidents are concerned, unquestionably the original shippers at Hamburg should be held responsible. They can plead nothing, certainly, in extenuation of their crime. A Hamburg paper of January last, contains an advertisement of Hitchler & Co., agents of Noble, the manufacturer, which reads as follows:

"In consequence of the refusal of the North German Railway Association to transport nitro-glycerine or 'glonoine,' over their routes, the advertisers are prepared to send by wagon, and to enter into special contracts for furnishing it, but in quantities of not less than 100 pounds."

The Bulletin of the 19th, remarking relative to finance and trade, says:

"The reports of 'dull times' in commercial circles are so almost universal, results largely from a want of confidence in the stability of prices in the future, which seems to be unwarranted. A prudent foresight and caution in all business transactions is, of course, commendable, yet there is such a thing as an extreme of caution which is liable to overreach and defeat its end. There is a numerous class of business men who are always going to sell the moment prices are a notch higher, or going to buy as soon as they are a shade lower, yet the exact and auspicious moment somehow never arrives, and these over-cautious traders who are ever holding off for the top or bottom of the market, are generally the ones who fare the worst in seasons of fluctuation and ultimately come to grief.

There also appears to be, just now, a sort of nervous feeling in commercial circles, touching the probability or possibility of the adoption, by Congress, of an increase in the tariff schedule of 30 ⅌ cent., in accordance with the recommendation of the Revenue Commissioners. Such a radical change in the tariff would, of course, vitally affect the interests of trade and commerce. Whether such changes are likely to occur or not, the commercial public, looking at the contingencies of the event, [illegible] settling down upon [illegible] operate beyond the exigencies of the time, until something definite is known with regard to the vexed question."

The operations of the Branch Mint, at San Francisco, for the quarter ending March 31st, 1866, shows a total coinage of [illegible] of $3,067,306 04. As compared with the same period last year, there is a decrease in the coinage of $127,161 21, and a decrease of $674,360 in the deposits. The following statement shows the quantities from whence deposits were received during the quarter ending March 31st, 1866:

GOLD.
California	[illegible]	Arizona	10,230 04
Idaho	338,672 10	Part'd fr'm silver	132,090 20
Oregon	131,911 30	Fine bars	160,118 80

The steamer Ajax, belonging to the California Navigation Company, which has made two trips to Honolulu, has been a [illegible]. The trade will not pay. The Islanders do not encourage it. It is said there is too much English and French influence there, too much dread of American aggression. The Company is said to have lost between $7,000 and $8,000 in the two trips. We observe from our Victoria exchanges that the English steamer Thames has started in the trade between that port and Honolulu.

The trade of Chili is a matter of great [illegible] to the [illegible] of this coast, and, if American enterprise should let this growing commerce rest in English hands they will [illegible] themselves less wise than they are reported to be. There is no reason, with the ports of this coast, why we should not do almost the whole of the carrying trade of Chili, and quadruple our commerce in the next two years. A tabular statement of the imports and exports of Chili during the years 1864 and 1865, which we have received from a well informed source, but which is too voluminous for our columns, shows that the exports of Chili have not been [illegible] by the Spanish blockade, but on the contrary, [illegible] to have largely increased during the past year, and that our own share in the valuable commerce of Chili [illegible] so trifling a sum that we might as well have no trade at all with that country.

We have nothing new to report in the matter of local financial affairs. There is still an active demand for money. No change in rates of interest, and exchange is advised. The issue for the first National Bank, at this city, having arrived, business will commence on the 7th—Monday next.

The following from Thompson's Bank Note Reporter briefly states the points of the recent decision in regard to the National Bank Stocks:

"The Supreme Court at Washington has decided that the stocks or shares of National Banks are liable to local taxation to the same extent as State institutions—that is, if the capital of a bank is invested in United States securities, the shares of such bank are not taxable. If a portion of the capital is so invested, then only a portion of the shares is taxable. By this decision, at least nine-tenths of the National Bank shares of the country will be out of the reach of State, city, county and town taxation, the Supreme Court having in a former suit decided that even State bank capital is exempt to the extent that such capital is invested in United States securities.

In this connection it is interesting to know what the acts of Congress declare to be United States securities.

In section 1 of the Act of June 30, 1864, is this sentence: "And all bonds Treasury notes, and other obligations of the United States, shall be exempt from taxation by or under State or municipal authority."

Therefore if capital invested in these securities, whether the investment be in a direct form—such as holding the bonds of the Government, or in an indirect form—such as holding the shares of a bank, the capital of which is invested in the obligations of the Government, such capital is, by all decisions of the United States Supreme Court, exempt from taxation. It is admitted that any interest-bearing obligation of the United States not past due, is an exempt obligation."

Domestic Produce Market.

PORTLAND, May 4th, 1866.

We should be extremely glad to be enabled to note some improvement in the general tone and character of trade in the domestic produce line, but the dullness which has continued so long is still the same. We think our people cannot overlook the cause, which is largely attributable to the prices held for goods not in demand. Many articles of produce for which there is a demand, are being imported—such as butter, choice dried fruits, etc.,—from California.

In speaking on the condition of the San Francisco grain and produce market, the Mercantile Gazette, decidedly the most reliable commercial paper on the coast says:

At this writing (April 17th), farmers are exhibiting an anxiety to realize up in their old crops in warehouse. Heretofore they have kept holding back, hoping for better prices than have yet been obtainable, always demanding ¼ or ½c ⅌ lb more than the current market price, and never willing to sell. But when they see that our remaining surplus crop of Breadstuffs is even now unusually heavy, and also at the certainty of superabundant crops being gathered within the next sixty days, the rush to sell or to ship off Barley, Wheat and Flour is great. The trouble, however, with them, is to be assured of the best and most reliable market abroad. They dislike to sell their wheat for half a cent per ⅌ lbs than they have been offered yet they want to realize speedily. They are in a quandary, such a one as we find it difficult to solve.

The weather thus far, both in California and here, has been exceedingly propitious for the growing crops, and a most brilliant harvest is expected.

Bacon has been selling from first hands the past few days, not in gunnies, at from 19c to 19½c for hams, and 19a 20c for sides; the purchases hold at the prices intimated in our jobbing report.

Crops east of the Cascade Mountains are said to look excellent, and promise an abundant harvest. It is thought that the present season will stop the shipment of beans from California to Walla Walla, as the farmers of the valley near the latter place are expecting to secure for themselves the revenue growing out of the demand for this essential article of miners' diet. In the matter of bacon they are also expecting to take a pickle ahead. As regards grain, the farmers of those regions have a percentage in their favor over the farmers of this valley, owing, as the Walla Walla Statesman truly says, to the expense attending the transportation of such articles. It very often happens, in these transactions, that after the commission merchants and shippers are paid, there is little or nothing left for the producer.

Woolen and Cotton Goods.

PORTLAND, May 4th, 1866.

We have not heard much concerning the spring clip of wool yet the present season in this section. The clip of Walla Walla Valley it is said will greatly exceed that of any former year, and is now being received at Walla Walla quite freely. The question of having it manufactured at home, instead of sending it away and then buying it back again in the shape of blankets, cassimeres, etc., is being discussed, and the discussions may result in the erection of at least one manufactory by another season.

The new factory at Oregon City, now have a regularly constituted agency in this city, at L. White & Brothers', for the sale of their woolen fabrics.

Notwithstanding the fluctuations of Eastern markets, if we consult history for a stimulus to these and other enterprises we will find that Athens, with her mining and manufacturing once governed Greece. Oregon may govern herself by manufactures. Carthage at one time by her manufactures controlled half the commerce of the globe. Oregon might, from the same results, control her own commerce to say the least. It is about time that this State should begin to demand something from her relative position to the balance of the Pacific Coast, and manufacturing will assist that stage of development much more rapid than anything else.

Our advices from the East show a continued state of feverish excitement in the market, which must result in a financial crash, if continued; hence the markets are very unsettled. A startling report by the Internal Revenue Commissioner—which we shall find room for soon—shows an unprecedented flood of foreign goods in the country, and these excessive importations are likely to end in peril to our commercial and industrial interests.

A statement in the San Francisco Bulletin says that the cotton mill at Oakland has thus far turned out 50,000 yards brown sheeting, which have sold at prices ranging from twenty five to thirty cents. The proprietors are now getting for a quantity of Mexican cotton, in the seed, and contemplate purchasing it if they can make an equitable arrangement with the Government with regard to the duty, the revenue law making no provision for cotton in the seed. The mill-owners have a cotton gin of their own.

FRENCH MEDICAL OFFICE,

FOR THE

CURE OF SPECIAL DISEASES,

ARMORY HALL BUILDING,

Northeast Corner Montgomery

and Sacramento streets,

ENTRANCE ON EITHER MONTGOMERY OR SACRAMENTO STREET.

DR. PERRAULT CONTINUES TO TREAT PRIVATE AND CHRONIC COMPLAINTS, SCROFULA, NERVOUS DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, SPERMATORRHŒA, IMPOTENCE, STERILITY.

DR. PERRAULT is a Graduate of the University of Queen's College, and is the ONLY REGULAR GRADUATE who practices as a SPECIALIST in San Francisco.

DR. PERRAULT will cure all who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory and Vigor, etc., resulting from injurious habits, contracted in youth, or excesses in maturity, which produce constitutional debility and premature decline.

It is a melancholy fact that thousands fall victims to disease owing to unskillful treatment and improper use of Mercury.

All cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Diseases of the Bladder, Gravel, Spermatorrhœa, and Impotence will be cured in a few days, without prevention from business.

To the Ladies.

Ladies suffering from Whites, Falling of the Womb, Suppression of the Menses, or Profuse Flowing, Costiveness, Piles, Weakness of the Back, Pain in the Side, Headache, Palpitation, and all other diseases to which the female system is subjected, will find prompt relief by addressing themselves to DR. PERRAULT, corner Sacramento and Montgomery streets. Private entrance on Sacramento street.

To those seeking our advice a plain statement of their case will be given, whether curable or not. All cases taken under treatment warranted. No charges for advice. No poisons or harsh medicines to injure the constitution; no making sick to make well, honest in our dealings, frank in our opinions; moderate in our charges. We invite investigation, claim not to know everything, nor to cure everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense, and to cure eight out of ten pronounced incurable.

We particularly request those who have tried this Doctor, and that scientific Physician, boasted and advertised, till worn out and discouraged to call upon us. It will cost nothing, as consultations are free.

N. B.—Persons at a distance can be cured at home by addressing a letter to DR. PERRAULT stating their case as minutely as possible, general habits of living, occupation, etc. Letters to be addressed, J. PERRAULT, M. D., corner Sacramento and Montgomery streets, Rooms 10 and 11, or Box 973, Post Office, San Francisco.

DR. PERRAULT still retains the agency of DR. RICOT'S FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS. Their immense sale has established their reputation as the only safe and effectual remedy for all irregularities and obstructions in females, no matter from what cause. On receipt of five dollars, these pills will be sent by Mail or Express to any part of the world, secure from curiosity or damage. ap24d4p3m

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable medicines known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most articles) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
